

ABOUT THE DIGITALISTAS

The Digitalistas: sharing our inspiration digitally. In word and image, because that's the best way we know how to tell stories. We cover everything that might be interesting for you to improve your quality of life but seen from our personal point of view and experiences. This means that the majority of our content is produced by us and not curated. We can however be inspired by what we see or read and use this as a topic for an article. If that's the case, we will mention our sources. Though we prefer to post less, stay close to our core and remain authentic.
